

SCOTT KLOSOSKY

Speaker, Author, Consultant
Founder, Future Point of View

For his entire career, Scott Klososky has grasped how technology can be harnessed to push industry, organizations, and humanity forward into a bright and prosperous future.

It is this understanding and a bleeding edge vision, that inspired Scott to develop an early webcasting media company called webcasts.com which he sold in 1999 for $115 million. And it is this vision that led Scott to found Future Point of View, a technology strategy and cybersecurity firm where he guides executives and organizations across the country and the world on how to navigate the Digital Transformation, drive revenue, lower costs, and protect resources from theft and harm.

It's also this vision that has allowed him to travel the globe and deliver numerous keynotes a year to audiences that number in the thousands.

Please welcome Scott Klososky.